

Yew Tree

Poisonous compounds called taxine alkaloids are present in the yew making it very toxic. However, scientists have discovered that extracts from the tree's bark may be helpful in ovarian and breast cancer treatments.

